In gentlemen's movements, of course, nearly 1/4 are among the novelties.—New York Note.

Apprentice for the year. Just like to know what you think of this—Philadelphia Ledger.

A local girl, a young widow, does know in that city, for fear somebody will say she was married in a "blue robe."—See.

"I have come to the conclusion," said Brown, "that the less a man knows the happier he is."—Allow me to congratulate you, Brown, said Fogg.—Butler Transcript.

A party of San Juan ranchers made a bonfire of an Apache Indian, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of "overcome by the heat."—Self-Induced.

A young man in Boston says he is going to attempt the last of forty days without working. He says if his employers do not catch him, he thinks he can accomplish the task.

A Norristown, Pa., second-hand furniture dealer has a toy safe to have been made by George Washington. This reminds us that a Philadelphia dealer in birch-a-trac has a soap-bath bough by George, when nine years old.

"Fruit is gold in the morning, silver at noon, and lead at night," says an old pomologist. "We don't care whether it is gold, silver, lead or molten, give us this day and every day after the said date, lots of the fruit."—See.

The laziest boy exists in Connecticut. His mother sent him to a neighbor's house after a cup of sour milk. On being told that there was none but sweet milk to be got, he helped himself to a chair and said, "Well, I'll wait till it sour."

Natural mistake.—A man employed as porter in a Texas hotel lifted a piano not long ago and carried it up one flight. He got hold of it in the darkness by mistake, thinking he was carrying the trunk of a Boston drummer.—Boston Post.

A Bostonian has discovered that the circular saw was first introduced into this country about the year 1817; but the year in which a man first placed his hand on a rapidly revolving buzz saw to test it was moving still remains in doubt.—Bostonian Herald.

An elderly gentleman was traveling lately while afflicted with a bad cough which greatly annoyed his fellow-travelers; and at last one of them remarked, in a displeased tone: "Sir, that is a bad cough of yours." "True," replied the gentleman, "but you will excuse me—it's the best I've got."

St. Louis girls are said to be quite skillful in the use of revolvers. When a fellow calls around for about the fifteenth time without coming to the point, the fair charmer whips a Derringer out of her pocket and aims it within easy reach upon the marble-topped centre-table. Then she murmurs softly, "What d'yer say, Adolphus?" And then, if he is a wise young man, he says it. Nothing like advancement, even in courtship.—Telegraph.

HE DID NOT MIND MATTERS.

A representative of the Lynn (Mass.) Advertiser, in a late ramble throughout that city, gathered, among other scraps of interest and information, the following: The first place visited by the reporter was the fruit store of Mr. J. Deveit, No. 67 Market Street, in response to a rumour that the proprietor had been made of the proceeds of the great Boston fire. Mr. Deveit was engaged in a short interview with his wife when the reporter called. "My son," he said, "had his father here before the fire, and when he came to him he said, 'I have never been so well in my life.' He had the courage in his right arm and shoulder when reciting perfectly helped after being struck a few hard blows. His pain was so great that he could not sit in comfort, and went to bed with any degree of satisfaction. After enduring this kind of thing for sometime, he purchased a copy of the great German Remedy and began to apply it. He did not notice any improvement at all, but used the oil for it was worth it. After pursuing this mode of treatment for three days the pain was banished and his father was in a perfect, healthy condition. He has never since felt any rheumatic pain."

Impartial.—New curate (who wishes to know all about his parishes). "Then do I understand that your aunt is on your father's side or on your mother's?" Country lad: "Sometimes on one 'n sometimes on the other, 'cept when father whacks 'em both in."—Punch.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC ENDORSEMENT.

GORHAM, N. H., July 14, 1879.

Gentle—Wherever you are, I don't know; but I thank the Lord and feel grateful to you that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago I had a slight shock of palsy which unnerved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change; they had so steady an effect, however, that they are now as steady as they ever were.

It used to take both hands to write, but now my good right hand writes. Now, if you continue to manufacture as honest and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest fortune, and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conferred on mankind. Tim Burke.

There are thirty-two circuses in the United States, and each one is the biggest show on earth.

Hopson B. Dick, Esq., associate editor of the Dickson Co. Republican, Chester, Pa., was cured by St. Jacobs Oil of very severe injuries resulting from a fall. His arm appeared to be paralyzed, but the Oil cured him.—Philadelphia Ledger.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., says: "In fall of 1878 I was taken with paroxysms of rustles followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was in great danger. In 1879 I was advised to the hospital. The doctor said I had a bone swelling in a shoulder. After this report went around that I was dead, I gave up hope, but a friend told me of the Williamson's Patent for the Losses. I got up to go to work, and to day I feel better than I have ever done."

I am not having every year suffered with these bugs, will take Dr. William Hall's Balsam, and be convinced that CONSPIRATION CAN BE CURED. I can positively say it has done more good than any other medicine I have taken since my sickness.

A celebrated lawyer said that the three most troublesome clients he ever had were a young lady who wanted to be married, a married woman who wanted a divorce, and an old man who didn't know what she wanted.

A young man in Boston says he is going to attempt the last of forty days without working. He says if his employers do not catch him, he thinks he can accomplish the task.

The Keokuk Gate City, in its "Farm and Garden" column, asks: "Why does Timothy run out?" Why, bleed your heart, the poor little fellow wants fresh air.

HEALTH IS WEALTH.

The Sun for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shining as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic, depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and world-wide. The Sun's influence is for the good, while it purges out the discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1868 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, on the broadest and most interesting and instructive topics with the freedom of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of the Sun. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen years past has been modeled after the Sun's example.

The Sun of 1882 will be the same outspoken, strong, and interesting newspaper.

By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable form, and making it as interesting as the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from Printing House Square is not the first consideration with the Sun. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we give all the particulars, whether it happens in Boston or in the far West.

In politics we have decided opinions; and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. Waxy what we think about men and events. That habit is only seen in the Sun's political course.

The Sun's Sun gathers into eight pages the best news of the day from all the world. An Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence complete the Sun's Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed.

Why does not know and read like the Sun.
